The What-All

May 2014

THE NEWSLETTER OF THE WAYCROFT-WOODLAWN CIVIC ASSOCIATION

Invasive plant management has begun at Woodlawn Park. The elimination of the non-native plant species will continue over the next five years. Planting of new, native plants will begin in the fall.

The What-All Goes Digital

Beginning with the September 2014 issue, the delivery of paper copies to all of the households in Waycroft-Woodlawn will come to an end. Distribution of the issues will continue with digital copies being available on the Nextdoor listserv and the civic association website (www.waycroftwoodlawncivicasociation.org). W-W residents who would like .pdf copies delivered to their personal e-mail addresses are welcome to submit them to thewhatall@gmail.com. The addresses will be used only for the purpose of distributing the What-All and will not be shared with anyone. If any residents still desire a paper copy, please express your interest to thewhatall@gmail.com. A paper subscription service may be initiated, through which copies will be mailed to subscribers for a yearly fee.

We look forward to the new era of saving paper, printing costs, and the legwork of the distributors. We thank them all for their efforts over the years.

WWCA Monthly Meeting

TUESDAY, May 13th, 7:30 P.M.

LOCATION: CAPITAL CARING HOSPICE

Agenda:

The speakers for the May meeting are:

▪ Representatives from Dominion Power

Rob McIntyre, a manager from the Distribution Reliability and Construction Projects, will discuss restoration plans for bringing the power back online after a widespread outage as well as the tree trimming process for both public and private properties.

▪ Staff member from the Arlington County's Office of Emergency Management (OEM)

Summer weather can bring violent thunderstorms, high winds and even hurricanes to the Arlington area. Did you know on average, 7 tornadoes touch down in Virginia each year? Our OEM guest will talk about the types of emergencies that we could face, how households can prepare for such emergencies, how to stay safe during an event and what to do after a destructive weather or major emergencies occur. Are you prepared? Come find out what you can do to be ready and how the County responds to a wide range of emergencies.

And the WWCA will hold elections for the 2014-2015 membership year.

The slate up for election is as follows:
